Also called HVAC Programmer Blend Door Motor, used in many late 1980's and early 1990's GM cars with climate control air conditioning.

Original GM part number: 16144370

AC Delco Part Number: 15-71882

Sold on an exchange basis- core return required.

Cost: $110 exchange plus shipping and FL sales tax if shipped to FL address.

Climate control HVAC systems blend hot and cold air to achieve the selected temperature in the passenger compartment. When the air mix door motor fails, it will no longer move the blend door, and desired temperature setting will no longer be achieved. This motor is located in the HVAC programmer module, and can be changed separately from the entire module. Replacement instructions provided with unit. Reconditioned HVAC programmer original part number 16137740 also available with this part installed if entire module is desired. Also sold on an exchange basis.
